NOTE: When the serial number of the ancestor is preceded by a plus sign (e.g., +1234), the continuation will be found in the ADDENDA, rather than in regular numerical sequence.

IN THE COURSE of her investigations over the years, the compiler has accumulated considerable material on Woodruffs of lines other than that of Mathew of Farmington, as well as about scattered individuals and family groups whom she could not relate definitely to the Mathew line, none of which is included here. Such persons and families were in Connecticut, Vermont, New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Michigan and other states. She will be glad to search her files and endeavor to assist interested persons by giving them what information she can.

F O R E W O R D

The name of WOODRUFF seems to have had its origin, as did many others, in the occupational activity of an early member of the family, in this case one of the minor English officials called a wood-reeve, a sort of forest warden. The name was and is spelled in various ways— Woodruff, Woodrough, Woodrove, Woodroffe, Woodrow, and more. The herb called Sweet Woodruff (Asperula odorata) is known in Germany as Waldmeister ("woods-master") and is used for flavoring May wine.

It is necessary to mention here the claim that Mathew Woodruff was the son of Sir David Woodruff, the facts about which were published by the late Mr. Frederick O. Woodruff, in his "Woodruff Genealogy" (Boston, 1925). Stated briefly, he was approached about 1910 by a man who represented himself as being a Woodruff from England and claimed that he had investigated the ancestry of Mathew Woodruff and, for a consideration, could furnish full information and show that he was one of six sons of Sir David Woodruff of Poyle, who in 1611 married Lettice Duncombe. This line of descent was published in Volume III of MacKenzie's "Colonial Families of the United States", which has served to disseminate and perpetuate the claim.

A few years later, Mr. Woodruff decided to verify the data given him, employed competent genealogists in London who, after considerable research, reported that they could find no records indicating that Sir David Woodruff had a son named Mathew, though he did have five others.

Beside the line of Mathew Woodruff of Farmington, there were several other Woodruffs in America in the early days. One John Woodruff settled on Long Island and many of his descendants took up residence in New Jersey— the so-called Long Island or New Jersey line. One of the Long Island Woodruffs removed to Sharon, Connecticut, where his descendants were at first thought to be of the Mathew line.

Richard and Robert Woodruff were living in Virginia before 1647; Benjamin and his brother Joseph Woodruff settled in Salem, Massachusetts about 1660. A Joseph Woodruff, whose wife may have been Mary Forrester, is thought to have lived in Charleston, S.C. after 1765, and later in Georgia. His children were James, Joseph, George and Mary Ann.

Descendants of Joseph Woodruff of Woodruff, S. C. spread throughout the South and thence westward. The 1790 census of the Spartenburg District (S.C.) lists a number of Woodruffs.

Quite apart from the so-called New Jersey line was Thomas Woodruff, a member of the Society of Friends ("Quakers"), who in 1679 arrived in Salem, N.J. from Worcestershire, England, and died in 1699, leaving sons Joseph and John.

Some of these Woodruffs may be related in some way to the line of Mathew, but no evidence connecting them has come to light thus far.

This work has occupied much of the compiler's time for a period of more than thirty-five years, and has involved considerable travel and correspondence.

Many people have contributed valuable information over the years, and my thanks go to them. Many Woodruff descendants have given me outstanding coöperation, some of whom turned over to me their family letters, Bibles, documents and other records for study. Their help, which required time and trouble, in addition to a sympathetic interest, is greatly appreciated. Unfortunately, some lines have had to be cut short because of apparent lack of interest on the parts of the descendants enquired of.

Members of the staffs of the New Haven Colony Historical Society in New Haven, and of the Connecticut State Library in Hartford, were most helpful. To my husband is due credit for his assistance in preparing the work for publication.

When so many individuals — ancestors, descendants, office clerks, and others, record and pass on so many thousands of names, dates and other facts, many errors are bound to creep in. The compiler apologizes for those she has made, and for those of others she may be helping to perpetuate.

WOODRUFF GENEALOGY

MATHEW WOODRUFF ≈ We know not whence he came nor where he lived in America before he bought a few acres of land from two of the original proprietors of Farmington, not far from Hartford, seat of the government of the Colony of Connecticut, in 1653.

Although it has been said that he came from Hartford to Farmington in 1640-41, written evidence seems to be entirely lacking. His name does not appear as a landowner or church member that early, but the possibility always exists, evidence or no, that he did in fact come from Hartford, and perhaps in the 1640s.

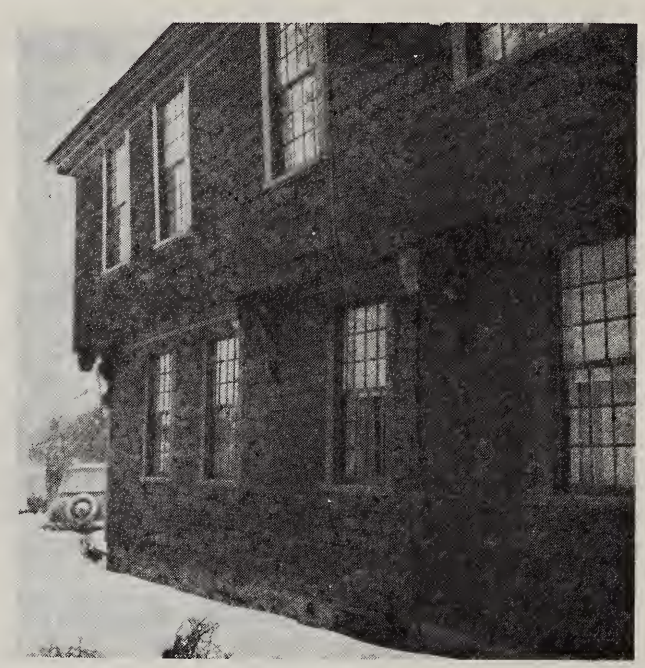
Nor can we identify his wife, Hannah. Because their son John, in his will, wrote "my cousin John Orton", the chance of her being an Orton was explored, without result. Another lead, which pointed to her being a Pratt, has thus far failed.

In June of 1643 Mathew Woodruff, with Richard Belden, was defendant in a suit at law in "The pꝛticular Court" at Hartford, the plaintiff being one John Robinson. He was made a freeman 21 May 1657 at Hartford, but neither of these means necessarily that he was a resident of Hartford proper.

In February 1653 he bought 2 or 3 acres of land of John Warner and Thomas Upson,— his homestead. From time to time he bought more land in Farmington, five separate pieces being mentioned in the land records in 1665 as belonging to him, and the inventory of his estate listed the homestead, land in the Little Meadow, the Great Meadow, and his "out lands".

There stands in Farmington today, on the east side of Main Street, a house which all evidence indicates as the Mathew Woodruff homestead. It has been moved back from the street and another house built in front of it, and is usually referred to as the Gleason house. Though it has been greatly aftered during the past 150 years or more, much of the original structure remains. It is discussed at length in "Early Connecticut Houses" by Norman Isham (published 1900), on pages 21-26.

Some of its history can be traced down through the years in the Farmington land records. In 1665 Mathew Woodruff's homestead was described as being east of the road, on three acres of land. By his will he left it to his son Samuel, who sold it in 1722 to a Samuel Smith, "weaver", for £100. Samuel Smith left it to his sons Thomas and Samuel, after which, through a series of exchanges and sales, title passed to Isaac and Chauncey Gleason. In the early 19th century the property was owned by Dr. Chauncey Brown, who moved it back from the street and erected a house in front of it. In 1861 Ira Brown defaulted on the mortgage, after which it passed successively to Henry French and Patrick Maxwell, who tore out much of the interior woodwork, and used it as a barn. Bridget Maxwell in 1894 sold it to Mrs. Stella T. Belezi, since when it has been renovated and seems to be in excellent condition.



Mathew Woodruff's Homestead in Farmington. (Photo 1962)

Both Mathew and John Woodruff were listed as freemen "in the ffarmingtown" by order of the General Court 12 October 1669. Mathew was appointed a constable 8 March 1672/3, and in 1672 his property was valued at £90.

The Farmington church records are that on 2 April 1654 "Hannah Woodruff the wife of Mathew Woodruff and her daughter Hannah Woodruff aged about 5½ years and Elizabeth Woodruff about the age of 2 yr. 5 mo. were joined to the church"; 5 November 1654 "Mary Woodruff daughter of (Hannah) Woodruff was bapt."; 16 May 1658 "the children of Hannah Woodruff were baptized. viz: John 15 yr. and upward Mathew in the 12th year of his life"; and 1 March 1672 Mathew Woodruff himself joined the church.

Following is a verbatim copy of his will, Hartford Probate Court N° 4102.

He joined the church in Farmington 5 Aug.1691, his wife having already become a member 24 Nov. 1686. On 8 Mar. 1687/88 at a Particular Court in Hartford, under Gov. Andros, Samuel "Woodroofe" was appointed sealer of weights and measures for Farmington. In the land records he was referred to as "shoemaker", and he was the first settler in the southern part of Farmington, later called the South Parish and eventually Southington. According to Timloe's "History of Southington", he built a house on Pudding Hill, half a mile east of the present center.

Samuel Woodruff's will, which follows, is to be found in the Hartford Probate Records, N° 6254.

On 22 Mar. 1758 he was serving as 1st Lt. in the French-Indian War and was at the Battle of Ticonderoga.(The marker placed in recent years by the Veterans Administration says he was sgt in Capt. Wadsworth's Co.). Served as captain in the Revolutionary War in the 12th Conn. Militia. Between wars he was a builder of considerable note, erecting at least 10 homes (including his own) as well as designing and building the church in Farmington, a photograph of which serves as frontispiece of this book. For more in regard to this church, see Appendix B.

An article in the March 1901 issue of "The Farmington Magazine" says that there was in existence at that time some correspondence of ca 1797 between him and the Rev. Joseph Washburn, pastor of the church, in which the captain ably defended himself against the charge that "you have been guilty of a censurable breach of the Laws of Christ's Kingdom in having neglected for many years to attend upon the public worship of God..." etc. This resulted eventually in his excommunication, a not uncommon form of discipline. Two years later, nevertheless, the Rev. Timothy Pitkin, at the time of Judah Woodruff's death, spoke of his earnest piety.

His will was dated 26 July 1797, proved 20 Jan. 1800, and the inventory of his estate two months later was $2250.28.

He and his wife joined the First Church in Milford 18 July 1730. His cattle brand or mark was recorded in the town recs 30 Aug. 1731, as follows: "Swallow fork on ye right ear and a cross on top of left ear". The same recs, 16 June 1753, say that "Joseph Woodruff found a steer in a suffering condition and the Town appointed Samuel Newton and Joseph Smith to appraise the steer as no one claimed it". His will was dated 13 Jan. 1766 and the estate was valued at 374-19-11½, including "1 negro woman, a child, and a negro boy Job". In his will he left to his daughter Mary, among other things, his gold sleeve buttons; to his s Joseph his silver-hilted sword and cane; gave to his daus Phebe and Mary "the privilege of living in that room... known as the parlor, of using the cellar and ovens and the well of water as they shall have occasion so long as they shall live a single life"; to his son Nehemiah, besides other things, his "right in the Milford Library". On 12 Jan. 1776 is recorded the death of "Tony, the negro of widow Woodruff".

The minutes of a town meeting held 10 Dec. 1759 record that, after voting £50 for a new Town House, "Agreed and voted by the Town yt Mr. Robert Treat & Capt. Joseph Woodruff should be a Committe to Direct Mr. Harpin in the Building if the Town house & to inspect his accounts and to curtail the same if they think them to be unreasonable".

b 15 Jan. 1730/31 Southington Parish, Farmington, Conn. d 18 Jan. 1790 Southington m 5 Dec. 1752 Farmington Mary Barnes b 17 June 1730 dau Benjamin and Hannah (Abbott) Barnes of Branford, Conn.

He served as private in Capt. Asa Bray's Co., Col. Roger Enos' Regt. (see "Connecticut in the Revolution", p. 620).

Considerable confusion exists regarding Noah Woodruff and his children. There were living in Farmington at the same time two Noah Woodruffs, each with a wife named Mary. The confusion appears in Timloe's "History of Southington" as well as in Frederick O. Woodruff's "Woodruff Genealogy" (Boston 1905). Specifically, the point in question is the statement that this Noah Woodruff had a son David. Frederick O. Woodruff said that he did, and reference will be made to that below. Noah Woodruff's will, dated 25 May 1783 and proved 1 Mar. 1790, provided that half of his estate should go to his widow and half to Joel Bronson of Southington, the testator's brother-in-law John Bronson of Southington being made sole executor. This John Bronson was the husband of Sarah Barnes, sister of Mary (wife of Noah Woodruff), and Joel Bronson was their son. Joel Bronson m 1782 Cynthia Squire, removed to Burlington, Conn. and thence to Pennsylvania, where he died.

It should be observed that no children of the testator were mentioned in the will.

On page 6 of Frederick O. Woodruff's genealogy are listed 6 children "of Noah and Mary (Barnes) Woodruff", whereas, in fact, the Farmington church records say they were the children "of Noah Woodruff". Actually, at least two of these 6 children (Solomon and Roswell) were the sons of the other Noah Woodruff (N° 79) and were mentioned in his will. Timloe made the mistake of attributing a son Solomon to this Noah, and then states that "with Noah the family of David Woodruff became extinct".

The census of 1790 of Southington, made after the death of Noah Woodruff, listed Mary Woodruff as the head of a family which consisted of 2 females 16 years of age and over.

David Woodruff (N° 136) below, and his descendants, have been included here solely on the strength of information supplied by Frederick O. Woodruff of Lexington, Mass., who based much of his claim on family records and upon conversations he had with his grandfather, Hiram Woodruff (N°341).

61 MARTIN (Simmons 20)
b 19 Oct. 1757 Farmington, Conn. m 9 Jan. 1771 Eastbury Parish, Glastonbury, Conn. Freelove Goodale of Bolton, Conn. Some records give his name as Simeon or Simon.

Enlisted 3 May 1775 in Capt. Oliver Hanchett's 10th Co., Col. Jos. Spencer's 2d Rgt., disch. 17 Dec. 1775. He and his w "owned the Covenant", Eastbury Parish, 19 July 1772. He seems to have disposed of his land in 1784, and prob removed to Fabius, N.Y. not long thereafter.

NOTE: The compiler believes that the recorded birth date is incorrect and should possibly be 1747, which could reasonably be expected, since there is a gap of 5 years between the births of Asa and Mary, children of Simmons(20). It seems unlikely that Martin married at age 14, or that his sister Huldah was born 10½ months after him. The Hartford Land Rec. show him deeding land in 1770 and 1774, improbable if he were a minor.

He served in the Revolutionary War as private and sergeant 1777 under Capt. Stoddard, Col. Hooker's Regt. NOTE: The compiler believes that he and his first w Sally Holly were the parents of Charles Woodruff (N° 212). One of Charles' descendants reports that Charles was "a grandson of Judah, bro of Zebu'on" (N° 25 and 24, resp.) That being the case, he must have been the son of Noadiah, and other known facts lend weight to the supposition.

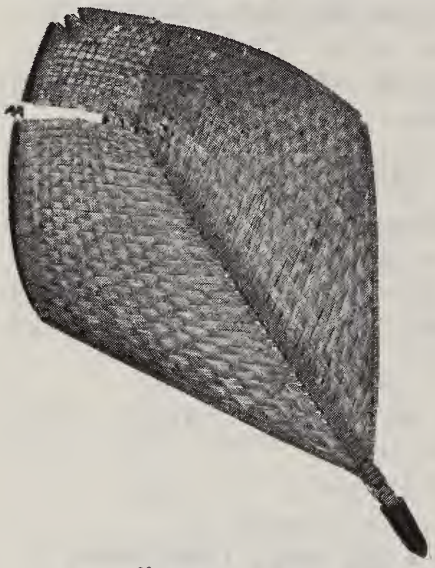
b 30 Jan. 1743/44 d ca 1805 Steuben, Oneida Co., N.Y. bur Remsen, N.Y. near Brownville m Ruth ——.

Although Simeon Woodruff apparently left no children (his will, dated 15 Oct. 1805 and recorded in Oneida Co., N.Y., mentions none), his life was sufficiently varied and interesting to warrant devoting some space to it here. He was expelled from Yale College Sept. 1764 for actions which would not now be thought to be cause for expulsion. During the years 1776-80 he was one of the crew of HMS "Discovery", one of the ships which accompanied Capt. Cook on his voyage of discovery, in the course of which he was killed in the Sandwich (Hawaiian) Islands. Not long after his enlistment, he was made a Gunner's Mate. The ship's log, now with the British Admiralty papers in the Record Office in London, contains an entry that probably refers to Simeon. It records that when the ship was at Wieta in the Society Islands, "on the 24th (Nov.1777) one of our Midshipmen and the Gunner's Mate deserted", but on 1 Dec. "the Deserters were brot Prisoners by the Inhabitants of Bolabola who had taken them to secure themselves from Captain Cook's anger". The Gunner's Mate received 12 lashes as punishment for desertion. The fan illustrated here was brought back by Simeon Woodruff from the Pacific and is presently owned by Mr. Theodore C. Woodruff of Mexico, N.Y.



When the ships "Columbia" and "Washington" left Boston 1 Oct. 1787 for Oregon, a Simeon Woodruff was First Mate of the former, but was discharged at the Cape Verde Islands.

About 1790 he bought land in the Town of Steuben, N. Y., and apparently was friendly with and had business connections with Baron von Steuben. There are several references to him in Roberts' "History of Steuben (N. Y.)", one of which tells how, when he was very old and lame, he killed a large bear with an ancient musket after it had misfired several times and the bear was only a few feet from the muzzle. The same source says that he was "high up in the Masonic order", and was buried by the Masons.

Her ts Bethlehem, Conn. says she was b 1768 d 1852.

On his 80th birthday, Oliver Woodruff wrote the following:

My Dear Children and Grand-children:
Let it be remembered after I am dead that I was born on the last day of April in the year seventeen hundred and fifty-five, in the town of Litchfield, and State of Connecticut. I lived with my parents till I was seventeen years old; had a common school education and then went to a grammar school and studied the Latin and Greek languages for the purpose of a college education. I was examined by president Daggett with several of my schoolmates, and was admitted as a member of the college at New Haven, but sickness in my father's family prevented me from going that year. The next year the American war broke out, called the American Revolutionary War, and I enlisted as a private soldier in a company commanded by Capt. Baziliel Beebe, in Col. Wooster's regiment, for six months, and marched to Ticonderoga. Nothing special took place in the campaign and I returned home in the month of December in the year 1775. I enlisted into Captain Beebe's company, Col. Philip B. Bradley's regiment, in the month of Februruary, 1776, for nine months, and went to New York, thence to New Jersey and finally to Buskard's Point opposite Staten Island. The British fleet was within half a mile of us. They fired a great many shot at us with but little effect We continued there till the British landed on Long Island. After the battle on Long Island we marched to Bergen, right opposite New York city, and remained there till the British got possession of New York, then marched up the Hudson river 14 miles and built Fort Lee. Some time in the winter part of the regiment was ordered over to Fort Washington.

On the 15th of November the British sent us a flag and demanded the fort The answer was "It will not be given up." We knew we should come to action the next day. We received a supply of cartridges and were ordered to eat our breakfast before daylight. As soon as daylight appeared we were on our alarm posts. We had lines to defend a good distance from the fort. The British before sunrise appeared in three different places. The battle began with cannon shot after some time with small arms, and continued until four o'clock in the afternoon when the British sent in a flag and the firing ceased, and the fort was given up. We marched to the Harlem Meeting House, about two miles, and went into the meeting house and other houses. There were twenty-seven hundred of us that laid down our arms. We stayed there until the next Wednesday morning, and then marched to New York and went into different prisons. Eight hundred and seventeen went into New Bridewell, I among the rest; others into the Sugar House, and others into the Old Dutch Church, and on Thursday morning they brought us some little provisions. That was the first morsel that we got after eating our breakfast on Saturday morning, the 16th of November. There were five days we never ate or drank anything. We never drew as much provisions for three days allowance as a man eats at a common meal. I was there three months and never saw any fire except what was in the lamps in the city, and not a pane of glass in the prison to keep out the cold—nothing but iron gates. At length an exchange of prisoners took place and I went on board the ship Glasco, lying on the east side of the city, bound to Old Milford, Conn. We sailed a few miles and got into Hurl Gate where we struck a rock and stopped. The tide was rising and she soon floated off, after which we cast anchor and stayed there eleven days. Twenty-eight were thrown overboard who died while we lay there. We then sailed for Old Milford and landed the next morning. Quite a number of us had our feet frozen. For several days previous to landing we had the small pox aboard and was forbidden to enter any house except the one that was provided for us. Soon after we got there they brought us three corn baskets full of boiled beef, potatoes and bread, and every one that was able to help himself got as big a piece as he could. Nineteen died that night from over eating. There were thirty-three belonging to Capt. Beebe's company and only three of us survived. We were completely covered with vermin. I soon got home to my father's house by assistance from friends, but it was several months before I was restored to health.

I am this day eighty years old, entirely free from pain of any kind. I never had the headache, backache, sideache or rheumatism in my journey through my long life.

Oliver Woodruff.

He enlisted for service in the Revolutionary War in April 1775 and was given various commissions to buy arms for his company. At the close of the war he returned to Litchfield and was married. After the birth of their first child, Austin, they removed to N. Y. state, finally reaching Canandaigua, where he bought 160 acres of land from Genl. John Fellows at 50¢ an acre, Lot 32 Range 6. Proceeding over the Indian trail running between Canandaigua and Big Tree on the Genesee River, he located and began clearing his land. The proceeds of the first crop, potatoes, are said to have paid for the land. In the fall of 1789 he returned to Litchfield for his family. In Febr. 1791 the family left for the new home on a sled drawn by 2 oxen. At Bristol Hill their son George died and was buried. When they reached their farm, they found that Indians had burned their cabin and they were without shelter, making it necessary to build a new one. On 12 Oct. 1940 a marker furnished by the State was placed as nearly as possible at the site of their cabin, which was the first house to be erected in the present Twp. of Livonia. This is about one-third mile east of the Livonia Center-Conesus road, nearly opposite the Buell Woodruff house. Mrs. Susannah Woodruff joined the Presbyterian Church at Liviona 16 Dec. 1810, and 25 Aug. 1811 the last 6 of her children were baptised.

170 MARTIN WOODRUFF (Martin 61)
bpt 19 Febr. 1772 Eastbury Parish, Glastonbury, Conn.

The census of 1800 of Fabius, N.Y. lists two families, as follows:

	Males	Ages	Females
Martinus Woodruff	2	Under 10	1
	1	10-16	1
	1	16-26	-
	1	26-45	-
	1	Over 45	1
Martin Woodruff Jr	2	Under 10	-
	-	16-26	1

The information here may, therefore, refer in part to the one and in part to the other Martin Woodruff.

Clark's "History of Onondaga County,N.Y." says that Martin Woodruff was living in 1804 in Cicero, N.Y. In 1834 a Martin Woodruff was living in Salina (now Syracuse), N.Y., and the 1830 census of Salina listed as head of a family Mary Woodruff æ 50-60. A Martin Woodruff and his wife Eliza or Louisa were granted land in 1833 at Lafayette, Onondaga Co., N.Y.

Martin Woodruff served as cornet in Van Schoultz's command in the so-called Patriots' War, which included an invasion of Canada in an attempt to "rescue" the Canadians from the "tyranny" of Queen Victoria. In 1837 he was captured at the Battle of the Windmills at Prescott, opposite Ogdensburg, N.Y., and, with others of the command, was hanged at Kingston, Ont. (See vol. 21, Michigan Pioneer and Historical Collection). The compiler has read an excerpt from a letter written by one J. Macauley to his wife Ann, which says "An express carries down this evening the death warrant of Martin Woodruff". This letter was dated 10 Dec. 1838. A Charles Woodruff æ 19 was also taken prisoner at the Windmills, was tried at Kingston and pleaded guilty.

Her father fought in the Revolutionary War and later rem to Onondaga Co.,N.Y.

He left home at the age of 21 and went to Steuben, Oneida Co., N.Y. where he associated himself with Baron von Steuben, who owned a large tract of land known as the Black River section, once the hunting grounds of the Iroquois Indians. Jonah, his father, and Benjamin, his brother, joined him in 1799, and the census of 1800 shows them as residents of Deerfield (Floyd), Oneida Co., N.Y. They soon rem to a section called Macomb's Purchase in Jefferson Co., N.Y., bought a large farm and built a log house. This was and is still known as Woodruff Settlement. About

Simeon Woodruff Rosanna Adams

1814 he sold his land in this settlement to his bro Benjamin and bought land not far away in Pamelia, where he built a stone house that is still standing (1962), over the front door of which are his initials and the date 1821. He held many offices in the community, such as assessor, overseer of the poor, highway commissioner, etc., and in his home were the headquarters of the library association. In the War of 1812 he was called to help in the defense of Sackett's Harbor, a few miles from Watertown.

310 ABIJAH WOODRUFF (Medad 119)
b 3 Feb. 1779 Farmington, Conn. Rem with his father to Westford, Vt., thence to Moreau twp, Saratoga Co., N.Y. The census listings of his household in that twp in 1810 and 1820 are given below. (It should be remembered that only the heads of families were named, and that the others listed could be "-in-laws" or even servants.)

1810:	2 males	16-26	1 female	1-10
	1 "	26-45	1 "	16-26
1820:	1 male	1-10	1 female	1-10
	1 "	10-16	1 "	10-16
	1 "	26-45	1 "	26-45

He evidently followed his father and brothers to Huron Co., Ohio, where the census of 1840 describes his household thus:

1 male	under 5	1 male	50-60
1 "	5-10	2 females	15-20
1 "	10-15	1 "	40-50

In 1835 he was an appraiser of the estate of Zachariah Burrell of Huron Co., but was not mentioned in the 1850 census.

confirmed 1 Jan, 1834, and ordained a teacher the next day. Thereafter his progress was rapid— ordained priest 5 Nov. 1834, elder 28 June 1835, an apostle 26 April 1839. He was spectacularly successful as a missionary in the U.S.A. and England. On 7 April 1889 he became the 4th president of the Mormon ch, in 1890 issuing his manifesto putting an end to the church's approval of plural marriages. He had resided at various times in Richland, N.Y., Kirtland, Ohio, Clay Co., Mo., Nauvoo, Ill. and Salt Lake City, Utah. He was one of the leaders of the Mormoms who trekked from Nauvoo to Utah in 1846-47, after the murder of Joseph and Hyrum Smith by a mob in Nauvoo. Brigham Young was ill of mountain fever and riding as a passenger in Wilford Woodruff's carriage when, on 24 July 1847, the cavalcade came through the pass and beheld the valley where they later built Salt Lake City. It was then that Young spoke the oft-quoted words, "This is the place!". On top of a tall monument built a few years ago near that historic spot are three bronze figures,— Brigham Young, Heber C. Kimball, and Wilford Woodruff. He dedicated the Temple in Apr. 1893.

At 16 he apprenticed himself to a wheelwright in Watertown and 2 or 3 years later became a patternmaker for the Goulding foundry. In Dec. 1856 he was granted two patents on railway coach seat and couch. He became master car builder for the Terre Haute & Alton RR at Alton, Ill., and prob while there developed his ideas for a sleeping car, the first of which was built by T. W. Wasson Co. of Springfield, Mass. and put in service on the N.Y.C. & H. R. RR on the night run between New York City and Buffalo. He charged passengers 50¢ for the use of his sleeping car, acted as his own conductor and porter, and in addition was required by the railroad to pay his own fare! After indifferent success there, he made better arrangements with the Pennsylvania RR through its general manager, Andrew Carnegie. In 1858 or 59, with his bro Jonah he began limited production of his sleeping cars in Philadelphia, as T. T. Woodruff & Co. Litigation with George Pullman over patents resulted, in the early 1860s, in a moral victory for Woodruff, while Pullman got control, and apparently (see pass illustrated below) operated the company separately from his own. Woodruff had rem to Mansfield, Ohio where he was in the banking business, returning later to Philadelphia in the foundry business as Norris Iron Co., which failed during the depression of the 1870s. He continued his inventing on a reduced scale, designing a coffee huller which "found use in the plantations of Liberia", an improved surveyors' compass, a steam plow, and a method of driving ships by means of screw propellors on either side. He eventually died in poverty at the home of his daughter.

WILLIAM HENRY WOODRUFF

Milford Clara Louise Smith b 17 Aug. 1878 Milford dau Roger Nathan and Emma Baldwin (Botsford) Smith. She res 1963 Milford.

Born in the section of Orange called "Turkey Hill", he rem at an early age to Milford, where his father had bought a farm, attended district school in Orange, graduated Milford High School 1892. After a few months attendance at a business school, he went into the market gardening business with his father. The winter of 1895-6 he was a locomotive fireman for the NYNH&HRR. He worked as a seed salesman for S.D.Woodruff & Sons of Orange 1900-02, then with his father started their own seed growing and selling operations, which developed into one of the largest vegetable seed firms in the country,— F. H. Woodruff & Sons, Inc. He was its president until his death. Its business was conducted on the farm until the completion of a new warehouse in Milford "Center" in 1912. Always interested in town affairs, he represented Milford in the state legislature 2 terms and was a member of the House Committee on Finance, then in 1924 was elected State Senator from the 14th Dist. and was on the Senate Comm. on Roads, Rivers and Bridges. He was an active member of the Plymouth (Congregational) Church, the Milford Club, the Milford Wheel Club, and I.O.R.M. He was for years a director of the Milford Trust Company.

The following Woodruffs appear in various records, and indications are that they were from the line of Mathew Woodruff, though in every case recorded proof is lacking. They are given here because of the possibility that information may come to light that will provide the missing connections.

1 SIMMONS WOODRUFF
b 1770 or 1771 Conn. d 30 Nov. 1864 (æ 93 per ts) or 2 Dec. 1864 (æ 94 per fam rec) m Anna Skinner b 1791 d 15 June 1844 (ts) or 23 Jan. 1844 (fam rec) dau Daniel Skinner of Bolton, Conn. (Bolton land rec, vol 9, page 243); both bur Welch Hollow cem, Fort Ann, N.Y. Poss m(2) Beulah ——.

He res 1804 Bolton (land rec) and owned property 1812 in Eastbury Parish of Glastonbury, Conn. (tax abatement list 24 Oct. 1814), but in 1817 he and his w Anna res Fort Ann, N.Y. (Bolton land rec as above). Note that the first child listed was born when her supposed mother was æ only 14 (if the date of birth, 1791, on the ts is correct), which seems highly improbable. The possibility exists that Anna Skinner was his 2d w, or that another Simmons Woodruff also resided in Fort Ann.

1 ROSWELL WOODRUFF
b 4 June 1763 Farmington, Conn. (per his Bible owned by Dr. Frank M. Sherman of Rochester, N.Y.) d 15 Oct. 1830 New Hartford, N.Y. bur French St. cem, New Hartford m Mar. 1788 Lois Pattison b 18 June 1762 Berlin, Conn. d 6 Jan. 1835 New Hartford bur there dau Edward and Elizabeth (Hills) Pattison, tinsmith, of Berlin. The following information is largely from fam recs.

Considerable research has been done in an effort to trace this Roswell Woodruff, but without success. Seth Woodruff (N° 53) is said to have had a son Roswell, but no connection between them has been established, nor between Roswell and his neighbor Selah Woodruff (see section immediately preceding) or others in the censuses of 1790 and 1800 for Berlin, where he lived. Some feel that his father was named Russell, but the compiler has found no records to substantiate this. Shortly after 1800 he was at Turin (now in Lewis Co.), N.Y., and in 1803 took up 1100 acres of land at Leray (in present Jefferson Co.), N.Y., where he was when the 1810 census was made. The Jefferson Co. Agric. Society in 1818 awarded him prizes for the second-best peas on two acres, the best farm in the county, and at the cattle show he exhibited a cart drawn by 17 yokes of oxen and steers. In 1819 he bought land in Whitestown, Oneida Co.,N.Y. and in 1822 traded for a farm in that county (now partly occupied bu the Utica State Hospital), traditionally leaving his aged parents in the care of the family of Abram Jewett in Jefferson Co. In 1825 he was a trustee of the First Universalist ch of Utica. A fallen gravestone at Sanford's Corners (now Calcium, but once a part of Leray), Jefferson Co. is inscribed "In Memory of Mr. Woodruff and Wife, Grandparents of Norris M. Woodruff of Watertown, N.Y.", evidently erected by Norris Menzo Woodruff (N° 3, below).

He served in the War of 1812 in the N.Y. Mounted Rifles (Cav.); his commission as 2d lt. signed by Gov. Daniel D. Tompkins and dated 29 Feb. 1812 was in the 3d Squadron, 7th Rgt. His pens rec says he was in Capt. Thomas Loomis' 6th Co., 2d Squadron, 6th Rgt. He was chief of the Watertown firemen, and a leather fire bucket still exists marked "N. M. WOODRUFF N° 2". His Bible is in the Jefferson Co. Historical Society library, Watertown. Woodruff, below.

The compiler believes he may have been the same person as Truman Francis, son of Seth Woodruff (N° 143) because of (1) the recurrence of names in the families, (2) the fact that transposition of given names was not uncommon, and (3) the fact that some of Seth's sons rem to Oregon. The dates are also not in disagreement.

He served in the Civil War as pvt in Co. B, 12th Kan. Inf. (pens cert #421155). The pens file records that there were 6 chil, George being the eldest, and mentions the 4 sons by name.

IRA B. b 1 May 1888. Not mentioned in Luther's will in 1928.

EDWARD and HIRAM WOODRUFF, brothers, of Pickering, Ontario and Sanilac Co., Mich.

Family tradition has it that these brothers emigrated from Pickering, Ont. to Sanilac Co., Mich., and there is no reason to doubt it, for other Woodruff families made the same move, amongst them some descended from Hawkins Woodruff (N° 99), including James Woodruff (s Zelotus Harvey, N° 271, called Harvey in Sanilac Co. recs) and Henry Woodruff (s Noadiah, N° 269).

The compiler is of the opinion that (1) they were the sons of Lauren L. Woodruff (N° 270), and (2) Lauren L. was identical with Laurence Woodruff who m Elizabeth Lawrence.

The death certificate of Edward Woodruff (Sanilac Co. recs)says that he was b ca 1812 in N.Y. state, and that his father was Laurence Woodruff, his mother —— Lawrence (or Laurence), and this information was presumably supplied by his eldest son, John Henry Woodruff, who was then æ 54. Hiram Woodruff (per death cert of his s Elijah, Sanilac Co.) was also born in N. Y.

At the time of Edward's birth in New York, ca 1812, Lauren L. Woodruff was there, for he served in the War of 1812. Nor should one overlook the fact that certain given names occur in these families often enough to point to a connection.

Hiram Woodruff, but not Edward, owned land in Pickering, Ontario Co., Ont. (land recs at Whitby, Ont.) The first Canadian census (1851) and the one ten yrs later found Hiram living in Pickering, by trade a cooper. Edward, who left form Michigan in 1832, was also a cooper.

A family tradition, as related to the compiler in 1963 by Mr. Ervin Woodruff of Lexington, Mich., is that Edward Woodruff, his grandfather, came from England, and while there is no other evidence that he did, neither is there proof that he did not. Mr. Woodruff is also authority for the statements that Edward and Hiram were brothers, that they came to Sanilac Co. from Pickering, and that both were coopers.

If Edward and Hiram were not sons of Lauren L. Woodruff, there is at least strong evidence that they were related to the Hawkins Woodruff family, mentioned above.

EDWARD WOODRUFF

In 1963 his grandson, Ervin Woodruff of Lexington, Mich., said that Edward was a cooper, coming from Pickering in 1832, crossing the St. Clair river over the ice in the spring, with horses and wagon. Three miles south of Lexington he cleared land for a farm. At that time he had married and had one child.

His will, dated 22 Dec. 1897, names his w Melinda, sons John (æ 54), Henry (æ 48), Ealen (æ 43), daus Juliette, Nancy, and Harriet; and "grandchildren of other daughters", not named.

FARMINGTON, settled in 1640 as Tunxis Plantation, later called Farmingtown, then Farmington, was incorporated as a town* in 1645. Its first inhabitants were mainly the overflow population from Wethersfield, Hartford and Windsor. Through the years, as the outlying sections became settled and the distances to the church became too great for convenience, new parishes were established or "set-off", and these eventually split off to form new towns. Woodruffs resided in all of these, particularly in Southington, Plainville and Avon.

Briefly, all of the present towns of Avon, Bristol, Burlington, New Britain, Plainville and Southington were originally within the bounds of Farmington, as were portions of Berlin and Wolcott. Farmington was one of the largest towns in Connecticut, in the early days second only to Windsor. Farmington today is a most interesting and a beautiful town, has many well-preserved old houses, a fine museum, and is well worth visiting.

The map shows in shaded area Farmington as it is today, the heavy line indicating its original extent.

In 1828 the Farmington Canal, northward from New Haven,

* A Connecticut town has little resemblance to what is called a township in other parts of the country, as it is a self-governing part of a county, the latter being relatively unimportant. It is not further subdivided into precincts or sections, a system not used in New England. Such a town often includes more than one center of population and, except in the larger ones in recent times, is administered by an elected "board of selectmen", who are subject to the will of the "town meeting", where all resident voters may attend, speak their mind, and vote.

was completed and later extended to Northampton, Mass. This aided the development of the Farmington River Valley, and operated with some success until it was superseded by the New Haven & Northampton railroad in 1847, now the "Canal Road" of the N.Y.N.H. & H. RR.

Following is a brief account of how and when the several offspring of Farmington were begun.

AVON, called at first Northington, North Parish or Nod, was established as a parish ca 1745, incorporated as a town in 1830.

BERLIN was incorporated as a town in 1785, but in 1712 a church had been organized at Kensington, as the 2d Parish of Farmington, which is in present Berlin. The first settlement was at the Great Swamp in 1686. Kensington had earlier been divided by the separation from it of New Britain in 1754 and Worthington, to the east, in 1774.

BRISTOL was in 1744 called the New Cambridge Parish of Farmington and in 1785 was incorporated as a town.

BURLINGTON, in the northwest part of Farmington, was organized in 1774 as the Parish of West Britain and set off from Bristol as a town in 1806.

NEW BRITAIN, settled about 1690, organized as a parish of Farmington in 1754, cut off from Berlin as a separate town in 1850, incorporated as a city 1870.

PLAINVILLE remained a part of Farmington, known before 1830 as the Great Plain, until incorporated as a town in 1869.

SOUTHINGTON was first settled in 1696, organized in 1724 as the South Society (i.e., church) of Farmington, and incorporated as a town in 1779.

THE OLD FARMINGTON CHURCH

Detailed information about the old Congregational church, designed and built by Judah Woodruff (N° 25), is not difficult to find. The few notes below are from (1) Richard W. Bissell's "Historical Sketch of Farmington", published 1928; (2) "Farmington, Conn., the Village of Beautiful Homes", published Farmington 1906; and (3) E. J. Johnson's "The Old Church" in The Farmington Magazine for March 1901. The drawing above is from one by Walter Griffin in that magazine.

The church, still standing and wonderfully well preserved, is the third church building and was built in 1771, the parish having voted 30 to 24 in February 1767 that a new meeting house was necessary. The building was to be 75 feet long by 50 feet wide, the heavy timbers of the best white oak from the Province of Maine. Judah Woodruff, already a builder of considerable experience and renown, was a member of the building committee, architect and master builder. A good portion of the credit for the church belongs also to Col. Fisher Gay, Woodruff's associate on the committee and one of Farmington's merchant princes.

The pulpit, as it first stood, was large and high and looked down upon the center aisle, with a window behind it. It was reached by a staircase on the north side and was overhung by a sounding board or canopy of wood, with a roof like the dome on a Turkish mosque, which was fastened to the wall. Along the front of the pulpit was the deacon's seat, and beneath the pulpit was a closet which legend says was reserved for use by the tything man for boys of unruly behavior.

The front of the pulpit was carved by Judah Woodruff himself, after working hours, and it is agreed that the carving took the form of wreaths of English ivy, which were painted green. One unappreciative writer described it as "tub-like". The pulpit and its canopy were evidently removed during alterations made in 1836, and unfortunately disappeared.

The spire was constructed on the ground and later raised to its proper position on the tower.

A saw and some molding planes belonging to Judah Woodruff are illustrated on page 119 of "Farmington, Conn., the Village of Beautiful Homes", and were probably used in the construction of the church.

INDEX

This index is intended to include only individuals who have or had a connection with the Woodruff family. Wives are listed under their maiden names when known; otherwise by their married names, thus: WOODRUFF, Hannah (-). The hyphen in parentheses indicates that her maiden name is not known.

As the spellings of names varied, one should be sure to try all likely spellings. For instance, Lauren may be spelled Laurin, Loren, Lorin or even Lorne; Willis may be Wyllys; Hannah may be Anna; Hurlbut may be Hulbert, etc.

It was not uncommon for a man to be known by his middle name, so that Clark Woodruff might actually have been Henry Clark Woodruff; or for names to be transposed, so that John Charles may have gone through life as Charles John.
